

SEMINARY TO REMAIN HERE; LONG TALKS ON MERGER ENDED

Merger talks that have been under way between the Philadelphia and Gettysburg seminaries of the Lutheran Church ended amicably Friday at the Hotel Brunswick in Lancaster and the joint committee on the merger study will recommend that it be dissolved.

The joint committee on the merger proposal held its final meeting Friday and decided that agreement cannot be reached upon a location for a merged seminary "after exploring all possibilities and all considerations relating to them."

The committee reached two conclusions, it was reported today by Dr. Harry F. Baughman, president of the Gettysburg Lutheran Theological Seminary.

TO DISSOLVE COMMITTEES

The first is a recommendation that the joint committee be dissolved.

The second recommendation is that a strong liaison committee be established to serve the two seminaries "in all possible means of cooperation" as the two seminaries continue their separate existence.

At the last three or four meetings of the joint committee on the merger study, there were two proposals under consideration.

The first was a recommendation of a firm of consultants that the seminaries merge in an urban university-oriented site, specifically Philadelphia and the University of Pennsylvania.

The other proposal was to merge the seminaries at Gettysburg, using the present site and facilities of the seminary for a base for expansion.

Federal Aid For Education Is Favored By Ex-Governor

More than 600 persons attended dedicatory services and open house of the new Biglerville High School Friday evening and heard Theodore R. McKeldin, former governor of Maryland, advocate federal aid for education even though it means giving up local control of the schools to the federal government.

"At the present time, the federal government is the only authority with the resources necessary to correct the deficiency of persons unable to obtain higher education," McKeldin said.

"Therefore I am for federal aid to the schools, not next year, or next week, but here and now, and I am willing to face the consequences. The cry that federal aid will inevitably mean federal control does not frighten me. If we are leaving undeveloped half of our potential brainpower, then somebody ought to take control and correct that error. I prefer to see the schools under local control, but better federal control than a continuation of the present waste of our best national asset."

NOMINATED IKE

McKeldin, who nominated Dwight D. Eisenhower for president in 1952, said that the new high school building is "splendid evidence that here in Biglerville you are disposed to do your part toward the conservation of intelligence in this country. In doing so, you are serving yourselves, first of all, for any community in which the minds of the boys and girls are growing, along with their bodies, is a community whose happiness and welfare are increasing, not diminishing. But you are also serving our country, strengthening it against the forces of ignorance and prejudice which are far more dangerous than the Red Army."

McKeldin said that a modern war will not be won by those who have the strongest military might, "but rather by those who have the most ingenious and best-trained minds, if the enemy is stupid and ignorant."

CITES RED POLICY

McKeldin pointed out that in Russia, if a youth has the mental ability to continue school after the usual training, the government "makes it possible for even the poorest youth to develop his brain to the utmost limit of its capacity. Education in Russia is not a matter of money."

"Their system produces minds that are powerful, but so narrow that, when it comes to dealing with other nations, they are incapable of grasping the most obvious truths. Hence, their diplomacy is notoriously blundering, for successful diplomacy calls for intelligence that is supple, as well as strong."

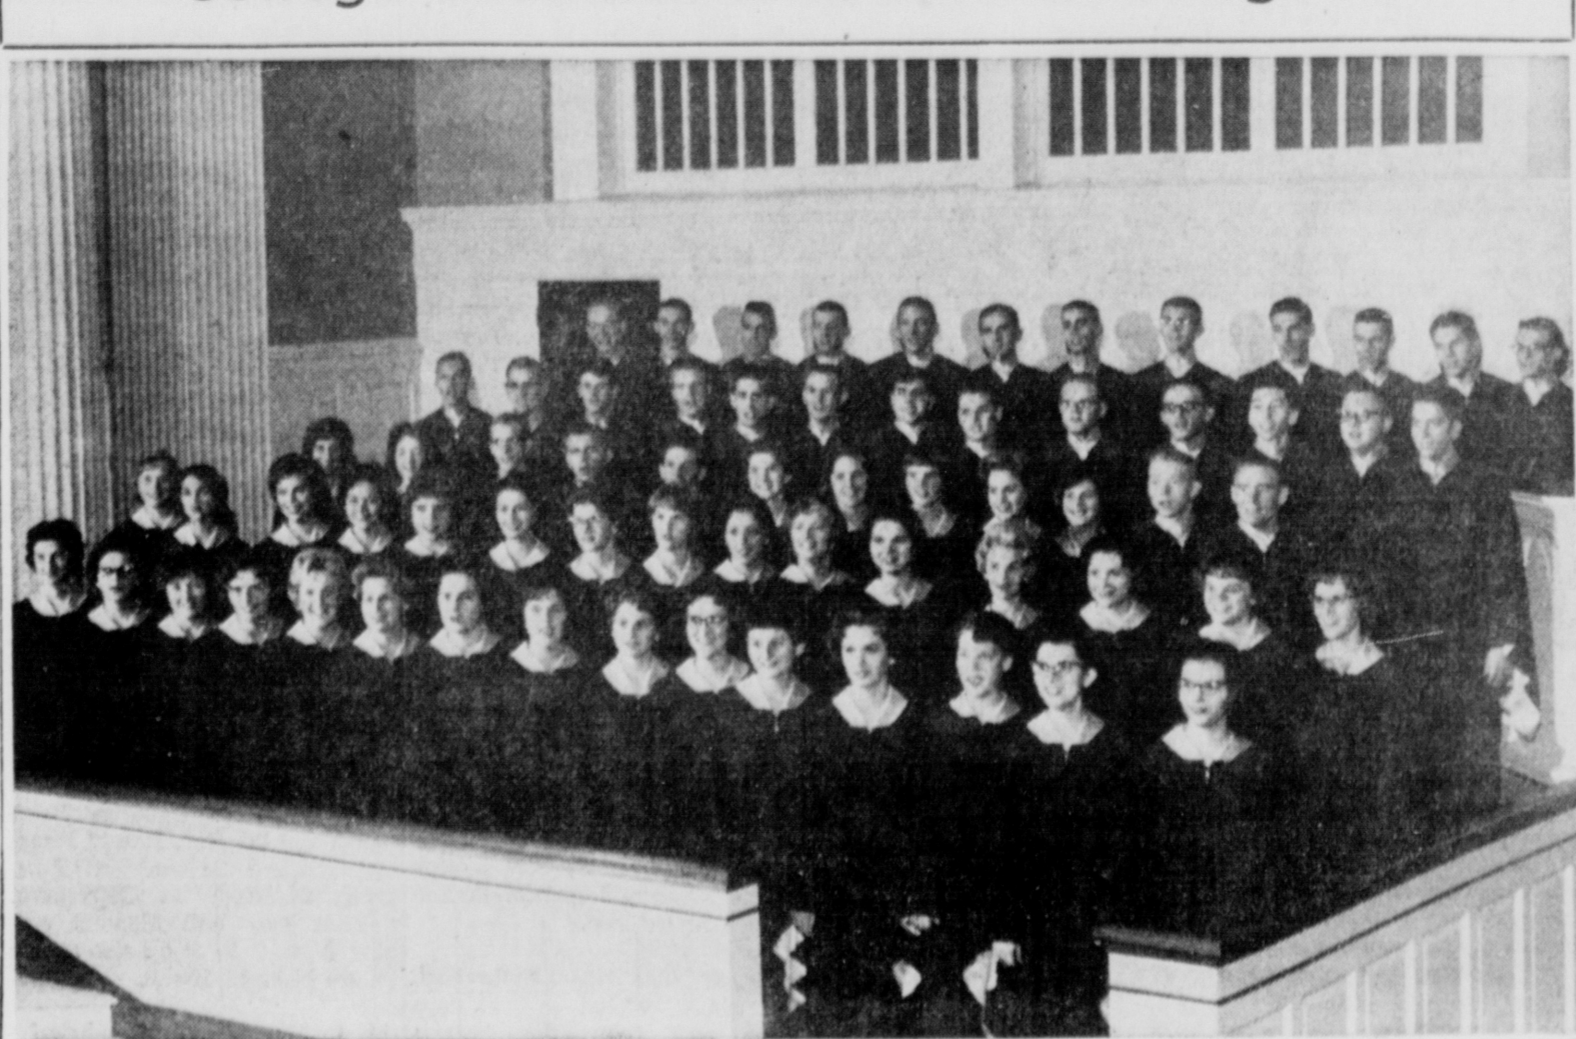

McKeldin said that the Reds "are right in their belief that every trained mind is an addition to the wealth of the nation; therefore it is the part of wisdom for the nation to see to it that every naturally strong mind is developed to the limit of its capacity."

THREAT TO SAFETY

McKeldin questioned why the United States has not made available to many young men institutions in other fields rather than military. He cited as an example how the press cries out against the shortage of engineers while the nation is short of linguists, especially of people fluent in the Oriental languages. "In these respects, the richest nation in the world is astonishingly poor, and any kind of intellectual poverty is a threat to national safety at a time when war is primarily a clash of minds."

15 Persons Perish In Fire Of Blowtorch Fury In Hall Of Hospital In Hartford

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—Fire burst out of a ninth floor trash chute at Hartford Hospital Friday, flashed down a corridor with blowtorch fury and killed 15 persons.

More than 100 other persons were trapped in hospital rooms as the fire transformed once gleaming corridors into a mass of charred debris.

Six patients, five visitors and four hospital staff members were among the dead. Two of the visitors had been to see their ill husbands. There were 793 patients in the hospital at the time.

An almost immediate investigation and hearing put witness after witness — some of them still disheveled and soot-marked — before fire officials in an effort to pinpoint the cause.

CAUSE NOT CLEAR

The cause was not clear. Perhaps a lighted cigarette, said one hospital official. Perhaps some kind of escaped gas, said another. The formal interrogation session lasted for six hours and was recessed until today.

One doctor said flames raced along the ceiling. Another said a billow of flame dropped down from the ceiling "like a blowtorch."

Thick smoke and a muffled explosion accompanied the blast of flame that spouted from the trash chute at the ninth floor.

Patients screamed for help from their windows. Rescuers fought through smoke and fire as they carried helpless patients to safety down stairs or by the few elevators still working.

NURSES PREVENT PANIC

Nurses remained with their patients to prevent panic despite choking smoke and approaching flames. They ran through corridors, slamming doors shut as a safety measure until they were forced to seek refuge in rooms.

Rescuers evacuated all patients from the eighth floor up in the $10-million, 13-story hospital that

12 SHOPPING DAYS TILL CHRISTMAS

AEC HEARING HELD AT DELTA; PERILS CITED

The Atomic Energy Commission Friday night told some 300 persons in Delta that the commission could not conceive of any accident happening at the proposed Peach Bottom atomic plant which could pose a serious danger to public health.

AEC officials said they felt that only "sabotage" could cause an explosion at the experimental project, but one spokesman admitted it would be a "first class catastrophe."

Friday night's public meeting at Delta Community Hall was called by the AEC to give persons living in the area an opportunity to ask questions about the $53 million experimental project — the nation's first high-temperature gas-cooled nuclear power reactor.

"FATAL TO EVERYONE"

Philadelphia Electric Company wants to begin building a $24.5 million plant on a 600-acre site four miles north of Delta along the West Bank of the Susquehanna River and nine miles upstream from Conowingo Dam.

Dr. Martin B. Biles, chief of the test power reactor safety branch of the AEC's division of licensing and regulations, said:

"If the containment vessel and reactor (enclosing the dangerous radioactive nuclear fuel) were both destroyed, it would be a real serious accident. . . . The radioactive cloud would prove fatal to anyone it blew over."

He said also that it would "certainly contaminate" the Susquehanna River, and that there are no known methods to cleanse the river of radioactive particles.

BALTIMORE CONCERNED

Maryland health officials, representing both the state and city of Baltimore, were present Friday night.

They are concerned with possible pond contamination because Baltimore proposes to draw drinking water for its 2,000,000 consumers from the river, nine miles below the site of the proposed experimental plant.

Dr. Biles, joined by other AEC representatives, continually emphasized that lengthy studies conducted by both the AEC and Philadelphia Electric have uncovered "no possible way, short of sabotage, that there could be an explosion at the plant."

TO HOLD "OPEN HOUSE" SUNDAY

The Brethren Service Commission of the Gettysburg Church of the Brethren has announced an "open house" Sunday evening from 6:30 to 7:45 o'clock in their Brethren Service Emergency Warehouse across from the church on the Biglerville Road.

Refreshments are to be served in the church fellowship hall and the youth of the church will present a Christmas drama, "Christmas in the Cobbler Shop," at 8:05 o'clock that evening.

The Brethren Service Commission which began its operations about a year ago already has aided more than two score families, Chairman Foust said. Donations of clothing and furniture from the emergency center "have been made possible by the combined efforts of several community organizations working with and through the commission," Mr. Foust said.

"Furniture, clothing and household equipment are needed and will be accepted for distribution solely on the basis of need without regard for color or religious faith," he said.

HEAVY RAINS SHOW BATTLE

ELISABETHVILLE, Katanga, the Congo (AP)—Torrential rains slowed the fighting between U.N. and Katanga forces today giving Elisabethville the quietest spell since the battle began on the outskirts of the capital five days ago.

At Leopoldville, the United Nations said U.N. Swedish jets had knocked out the powerful government-controlled Katanga radio Friday. The U.N. announcement said Swedish ground troops dispersed a large concentration of Katanga gendarmes around the Elisabethville transmitter.

Katanga sources disputed U.N. claims and said only a powerline was cut and the station could go back on the air after repairs.

FOE LOSES HEAVILY

Mortar fire was heard in the area of the U.N. headquarters here at dawn. Katanga army sources said they expect to launch an attack to try to clear the area.

A report to the U.N. command at Leopoldville said Indian troops fought off an attack through the bush around the Elisabethville airport Friday, supported by Indian-Camberra jet aircraft. Two attacking companies of Katanga gendarmes were reported to have suffered heavy losses.

U.N. sources said the column of advancing gendarmes was led by a huge improvised tank, constructed by a private industrial firm in Katanga. Built upon the base of a bulldozer, the tank was covered with double armor plates filled with concrete.

WARN CIVILIANS

The Indians claimed they attacked the tank with a recoilless rifle and demolished it with the first shot.

A U.N. armored car drove through the section of town around the U.N. headquarters here with a loudspeaker warning civilians not to shelter Katanga snipers in their homes or "action would be taken to destroy the snipers nests."

Skirmishes flared on the outskirts of Elisabethville. But the U.N. forces made no effort to drive into the center of the city where the Katangans held two main military strongholds—President Moise Tshombe's palace and the Lido Hotel.

THREE HELD FOR COURT

Three Washington, D. C., residents were held for court on charges of conspiracy to commit an unlawful act and larceny of three men's suits from Lippy's Men's Wear following a hearing before Justice of the Peace Robert P. Snyder Friday afternoon.

Luther T. McGee, 28, pled guilty to the larceny charge and not guilty to the conspiracy count. James P. and Gloria R. Hill pled not guilty to both counts. All three were returned to the Adams County jail in lieu of $2,000 bond each for court.

They were arrested November 30 in Lebanon by state police and were transferred here when it was discovered that the suits, found in the Negroes' car, had been missing from Lippy's Store.

The three admitted they had been in the store and bought a sport shirt and McGee confessed that he stole the suits, without the knowledge of the other two, and placed them in the trunk of the car.

Gloria and James Hill denied any knowledge of the act until they were apprehended by state police and the suits were discovered.

SEVEN FOREST FIRES SWEEP OVER 10 ACRES

Seven forest fires that consumed about 10½ acres of District 1 forests in the past week were reported Friday by District Forester William Vanidestine.

The fires were all in Franklin of Cumberland Counties which along with York and Adams Counties comprise the district.

Two of the fires accounted for 90 per cent of the timberland loss, both of them occurring on Monday. The remainder of the fires were caught quickly and kept the loss to a minimum.

LARGEST BLAZE

At 10:20 a.m. Monday, the largest blaze consumed between five and six acres of woods in Dickinson Township of Cumberland County. Vanidestine said the fire southeast of Hammond's Rocks, near Pine Grove, was under control by 6 p.m., but took two days to bring to the "dead out" point.

Earlier that day, at midnight Sunday, a fire west of the Samuel G. Dixon state hospital (formerly Mt. Alto sanitarium) consumed about three acres in two and one-half hours.

At around 3 a.m. Monday, three separate small fires were extinguished on South Mountain in Franklin County.

The largest burned a half acre on the Old Forge Road near the Manufacturers Light and Heat Company gas line.

TWO ON FRIDAY

While on his way to this fire, foreman Howard Misner put out two more small fires along the gas line, one of one-tenth acre and the other of one acre where he was aided by a tower operator. These were both in the Old Forge area.

The week was quiet until Friday, Vanidestine said, when two more Cumberland County fires broke out.

At 7 a.m., a fire was extinguished in one hour and burned only one-twentieth acre in Southampton Township near Big Pond.

At 8:23 a.m. Friday, a fire in Cook Township, one-half mile east of the Pine Grove-Huntsdale Road on the Ridge Road, burned about one-half acre before being put out.

POPE MAKES STRONG PLEA FOR UNITY

By FRANK BRUTTO
VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII today made the most powerful plea of his reign for Christian unity in the modern world.

The Pope made his appeal in issuing an encyclical on Pope Leo I, the great fifth century pontiff. Appealing for the unity of all Christians, Pope John expressed the hope that the day bringing "the dawn of universal reconciliation" would come soon.

Leo, who became a saint of the Roman Catholic Church, stood up to Attila the Hun, dissuading him from attacking Rome.

But the great pontiff was especially noted for his fight for church unity at a time when the church faced heresy both in the East and the West, and the declining power of the Roman Empire faced the assaults of barbarian hordes.

POPE IS CONCERNED

Vatican sources said that the pontiff obviously intended his encyclical on Leo as a call to the world's Christian forces to band together against the threat of atheistic communism today.

words in Latin, is named "Aeterna dei Sapientia" the eternal wisdom of God.

Its issuance in advance of the Roman Catholic Church's first ecumenical council in nearly 100 years emphasized Pope John's deep concern with Christian unity, a subject upon which he has frequently touched in the three years of his reign.

The Pope is expected to announce the opening date of the council soon, possibly in his Christmas message to the world on Dec. 21. The council will be primarily devoted to internal affairs of the Roman Catholic Church, but Pope John himself has indicated his hopes that it would be a step toward union of all Christians. It is expected to start in about a year.

15 Persons

was built 13 years ago and was regarded as almost fireproof.

Firemen tried to reach trapped patients on the ninth floor with extension ladders. But most of the ladders went only as high as the eighth floor.

CARRIED TO SAFETY

Some patients were carried to safety while plasma bottles still were attached to their arms.

One of the hospital staff members, 33-year-old Dr. Norman Hedenstad, perished in the flames as he tried to close a door at the end of a corridor to prevent the spread of the fire.

Andrew Agogliati, 53, of Framingham, Mass., one of four patients in a ninth floor room, heard a shout: "Get the patients out!" He got out of bed—"Although I'm not supposed to"—and saw flames and smoke. Visitors in the room used blankets and sheets to seal cracks around the door to keep smoke out.

"We all opened the windows and the smoke went out," he said. "So we just stayed there and tried not to panic."

USE WET TOWELS

Lois Daly was one of the nurses who closed doors and windows in patients' rooms. She eventually was forced into a room with 10 others, including nurses, patients, visitors and employees.

"By the time we closed the door," she said, "the room was filled with smoke. We had to open windows in order to get some air because it was just black in there. We put wet towels over our nose and mouth so we could filter the smoke and breathe. For a brief moment I thought this was curtains."

The hospital's executive director, T. Stewart Hamilton, said that "only time will reveal the many deeds of courageous actions on the part of patients and personnel."

PERSONAL TRAGEDY

The fire brought personal tragedy to Deputy State Fire Marshal Carroll E. Shaw as he directed the removal of bodies during the fire. The first body to be identified was that of his niece, 14-year-old Diane Pape.

The hospital's executive engineer, Stewart A. Sprague, raised the possibility that a combustible gas may have escaped and then ignited.

He said his theory was purely speculation, however, and that he did not know of any such gas kept on the ninth floor. But his theory, he said, would explain why the flames spread so quickly along the ceilings.

The only established fact, said Hartford Fire Chief Thomas Lee, was that the blaze started in the trash chute between the first and third floors.

FIRE IN CHUTE

Asked whether a cigarette might have started the fire, Lee said: "We think in terms of something like that."

Lee said his department received the first alarm at 2:39 p.m. Witnesses at the hearing told of fire in the chute as early as 1:30 p.m.

"The fire was certainly fought by hospital personnel before an alarm was turned in," Lee said.

"The question is, how long?"

The hospital discharged about 200 patients, including 100 women who recently gave birth. Other hospitals offered room to patients who might have been displaced by the fire. But Hamilton said all remaining patients have been transferred to other nursing units within Hartford Hospital.

The fire closed down eight units containing 216 beds, but the hospital expected many would be back in use within a few days.

There was no estimate of monetary damage to the hospital, a gleaming white building just a few blocks from the state capital.

"This is a weak spot in our system of defense that ought to be strengthened without delay and by whatever means available," he said.

McKeldin congratulated Biglerville on the completion of the building, "which to youth is a high school, a gate to the future and a monument to the faith in the rising generations."

HUDSON PRESIDES

Superintendent Donald B. Hudson, who presided at the dedication, introduced guests and thanked those who had had a part in constructing the new building. He gave special emphasis to the school board and authority, the engineer and contractors "who all worked together on the project to make it a success."

The Ira E. Lady American Legion Post of Biglerville presented High School Principal Charles L. Yost with an American flag for the auditorium.

Dr. Herbert Bryan, representing the Pennsylvania Department of Education, brought greetings from the department and congratulated Biglerville residents on their "farsightedness in their views toward education."

He said that Biglerville was the first school to approve a joint merger and that nearly all of the other merged districts in the state were patterned after Biglerville.

INTRODUCE GUESTS

He also pointed out that Biglerville has always met the requirements for state supplemental payments since the merger. Bryan said that it was a pleasure for him to participate in the dedication of the building, declaring, "It is a monument to the efforts of the people in the community."

Guests introduced were Earl Crum, secretary of the school authority; Fred Anthony, representing A. B. Seifert, general contractor; Clifford Barnhart, representing architect Alfred Hamme; C. P. Keefe, Adams County superintendent of schools, and David Houck, business manager.

The high school band and chorus combined for several numbers. The invocation was given by Rev. Dr. H. W. Sternat; the dedicatory prayer by Rev. Nevin Frantz and the benediction by Rev. Dr. O. D. Coble.

Members of the Student Council conducted guided tours of the building after the program. The FHA members and Student Council served as ushers while the Tri-Hi-Y Club conducted the coat-checking booth.

REDS MADE BIG BOMBS TO USE AS BIG THREAT

By STANLEY JOHNSON

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev said today the Soviet Union had built 50- and 100-megaton bombs so that they would hang over the heads of Western powers like the sword of Damocles.

He told delegates to the Communist-dominated congress of the World Federation of Trade Unions that the Soviet Union had no plans to use such bombs "but we shall certainly use this weapon against the enemy if they unleash a new war."

"The 50- and 100-megaton bombs will always hang over their heads like the sword of Damocles," he said.

The Russian premier drew his allusion from ancient Greek history. Damocles was rebuked and forced to sit at a royal banquet with a sword suspended over his head by a hair.

USUAL BOAST

Speaking excitedly from the platform in the Kremlin's red and gray Hall of Congresses, he said that there was not a point on the globe that could not be reached by Soviet rockets and he thought that was a strong deterrent against aggressive forces.

Khrushchev expressed dismay that not everybody in the world appreciated the "correctness" of the Soviet Union's decision to resume nuclear testing in the air.

He said that many honest people had expressed concern about the health danger.

But, he claimed, "The socialist countries have to think first, not about fallout shelters but how to avoid having nuclear bombs fall on our heads."

"STORMY APPLAUSE"

"Do you want us to create conditions in which they would throw bombs at us and also clean the air for them?" he said. "We would be slobbering idiots if we did not carry out the nuclear tests. This is the only correct line and the one we have chosen."

When Khrushchev concluded there was stormy applause and the delegates gathered from all over the world stood up and joined him in singing the Internationale.

Khrushchev laughed at President Kennedy's proposal for an internationally controlled corridor to West Berlin.

"Strange people!" he said. "They still think of the Soviet Union as it used to be. They do not realize we have changed our shorts for long pants."

Architecture Plays

Big Role In Japan

HONOLULU (AP) — Architecture is playing a leading role in Japan's social passage "from feudalism to industrialization," an American architect believes.

Antonin Raymond, who first went to Japan in 1919 to assist the late Frank Lloyd Wright in designing Tokyo's Imperial Hotel, told a conference of architects in Honolulu:

"Structures in Japan are huge today. The architects who design these buildings seem to be carried away by a vision of permanence, solidity, power and enormity of scale as an end in itself."

"They have opened the door for a number of social changes in Japan and have helped bring the country into the industrial age."

Raymond has designed a number of buildings in Tokyo, including the U.S. Embassy, St. Luke's Hospital, Women's Christian College, St. Ann's Church and Gunman Music Hall.

Ticket Causes Red

Face With No Fire

BRADFORD, Pa. (AP) — A woman found an overtime parking ticket on her car and a policeman advised her to deposit the ticket and fine in one of the city's red fine boxes.

At a corner of Main and Chestnut Sts. she found a red box and tried to slip the ticket and money into the box.

Moments later, fire trucks rushed to the scene with wailing sirens. The lady had been monkeying with a fire alarm box.

CASTRO DEFIES TWO NATIONS TO SEVER TIES

HAVANA (AP)—Fidel Castro lashed out today with a bitter attack on Panama and Colombia and challenged them to sever diplomatic ties with his Cuban regime.

The Cuban prime minister, in a midnight television speech, also assailed President Kennedy's scheduled trip next week to Venezuela and Colombia, charging it is aimed at defending the U.S. "repressive policy against workers."

Castro told a cheering audience of graduating school teachers he was issuing the invitation to his two Latin-American neighbors "on a silver platter" to accommodate the wishes of the U.S. State Department.

CALLED "TRAITORS"

Castro called Panama "another government of traitors and accomplices of the Yankee imperialism."

"Let them break relations with us, these unlawful ones like Panama and Colombia," Castro said.

Colombia this week called for a foreign ministers' meeting to discuss the problem Cuba poses for the hemisphere. Panama recently relayed to Cuba a diplomatic note from Guatemala in which that nation threatened to permit establishment of a Cuban government in exile unless ex-President Jacobo Arbenz is expelled from his exile in Cuba.

Eleven nations of the western hemisphere already have broken with Cuba.

Castro also denounced President Romulo Betancourt of Venezuela as a "miserable traitor" and said Kennedy's visit would "shore up the traitor." Betancourt was a strong supporter of Castro at the outset of his Cuban invasion.

Today's Talk

TRAINING
Emerson once said that the best drill for an orator was a course of mobs.

Opposition is what keeps the moral blood of the world circulating in a healthy manner. Trouble and hardship test the fibre of a man or woman. And every time either gets a trip-up, he or she is better fitted to go ahead and battle for a more worthwhile stand in this world.

It is training that fits us all to cope with tasks that look impossible. And the test of any character is always a test of training. I think it was Elbert Hubbard who once said that men did not lack strength, but the will to concentrate and act. Training teaches a man, or woman how to concentrate and gives him or her the courage to act at the right time. Fear is the bugaboo of progress. He or she who is trained to face fear walks gloriously past it.

The thing that inspires us to greater efforts and to the achievements that stir our souls is the very thing of training, for we are enabled to crystallize all manner of forces under stress and to make them pull for us in cooperation. Training puts faith into your veins.

We may get our training from everywhere and from everything. Many men's eyes are their two watchful secretaries. Ever looking, ever searching, ever picking up ideas and appreciating new wonders.

I sometimes think that one of the greatest fruits of training is self control. For the one who has acquired it starts ruling oneself before he or she tries to rule anything else in this world.

Trained men and women get the jobs — somehow. You see the jobs come to them.

Just Folks

THE BRIGHTER SIDE

Though life has its troubles and life has its care

And often its dark days of sorrow,

There is always the hope that the sky will be fair

And the heart will be happy tomorrow.

There is always the light of a goal just ahead,

A glimpse of the dream we're pursuing.

In spite of the difficult pathway we tread

There is much it is good to be doing.

Time empties the purse of the pennies of youth,

The heart of its innocent laughter;

But gives in return just a few grains of truth

And the promise of more to come after.

There's never a new day lived out to the end,

However life's tempests may pitch us,

But what with a triumph, a joy, or a friend

The swift, fleeting hours may enrich us.

There is so much to do and there's so much to see

In spite of the troubles that fret us;

So much to wait for, and so much to be,

If only the future will let us —

That life with its burdens and life with its tears

And its heart burning touches of sadness,

Still lures us all on to the end of our years

With its friendships, its loves and its gladness.

REGULAR UNITS WILL REPLACE U.S. RESERVES

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army Reservists and National Guardsmen can be returned to civilian life as soon as regular units are created to take their places, Pentagon officials said today.

The officials made clear the Pentagon did not have a firm schedule for releasing the 119,500 Guardsmen and Reservists mustered into the Army last October.

Next month, training centers will start producing the first substantial manpower reinforcements for the Army resulting from the increased draft calls that began in August. The Army figures it takes a minimum of five months to train a new man to carry a full load as a soldier.

The increased flow of trained draftees does not mean called-up Reservists and Guardsmen can be released at the same time, officials stressed.

OTHER KEY FEATURES

They said there are other key factors such as the rate of enlistments and, perhaps most important, the world situation.

"The Berlin crisis hasn't changed enough to warrant sending the Guardsmen and Reservists home," one official said.

The Army hopes to release all the Guardsmen and Reservists from active service by next July, but no decision has been made on when to start the process.

For one thing, the Army feels they should undergo at least five months of training. Most of them have been in uniform less than two months.

RASH OF COMPLAINTS

President Kennedy said 10 days ago: "It is our hope to get these men out before their 12-month period." Secretary of the Army Elvis J. Stahr Jr. followed this by saying, "We do intend to try to beat" the year limit, depending on the way the international situation develops.

Suggestions have arisen that a rash of complaints from some of the recalled Guardsmen and Reservists might prompt the Kennedy administration to consider hurrying their release, particularly since 1962 is a congressional election year.

One top official said there has been no suggestion from the White House or any other government quarter that "any military compromise should be made to ward off criticism."

WILT GETS 78, NEW NBA MARK; BAYLOR HAS 63

By JIM WALTERS

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Wilt Chamberlain definitely was unhappy. He slouched his huge 7-foot-plus frame onto a tiny stool in a corner of the Philadelphia Warriors dressing room, a picture of dejection, seemingly too tired to move an inch.

He had just scored 78 points for a new National Basketball Association record.

"As far as I'm concerned," said Wilt, "it's just 78 points down the drain. We lost the game."

Last it the Warriors did, 151-147, in three overtimes Friday night, but through no fault of the slender-looking man they call "The Stilt."

He had 31 field goals, 16 free throws, grabbed 43 of the Warriors' 98 rebounds and played every minute—giving him 24 consecutive games without a moment of rest during play.

S-MAN DEFENSE

Coach Frank McGuire said he thought Wilt might have scored 100 points except the Lakers—led by the faultless Elgin Baylor—used a defense that collapsed five men back around Wilt when the Warriors tried to pass to him.

Over in the Lakers' dressing room, Elgin Baylor—the man whose 71 points previously were the NBA single-game record—didn't seem a bit unhappy.

"Wilt can have all the records just so we win the games," said Baylor, who tallied 63 himself.

The win kept the Lakers, who trailed most of the game, atop the Western Division by 5½ games. The Warriors are second in the Eastern Division, 6½ games behind Boston, which defeated Syracuse, 123-111, despite 32 points by Larry Costello — including 13 straight field goals for a new NBA record. Cincinnati clung to second place in the Western Division by beating St. Louis, 123-107, and Detroit topped Chicago, 133-107, in the opener of the doubleheader here.

Movies, Hi-Fi Music And Ice Cream Now Available At Once Isolated S. Pole

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dec. 14 marks the 50th anniversary of man's first successful venture to the South Pole — the arrival of the expedition of the great explorer Ronald Amundsen.

AP Science Writer Frank Carey spent nine days at the South Pole station during a recent month's assignment to cover Navy-National Science Foundation activities in the entire Antarctic continent. He tells in the following story of present-day conditions at the pole, compared with those of Amundsen's day.

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Writer
SOUTH POLE STATION (Delayed) — (AP) — The original conquerors of the South Pole might flip their fur parkas if they could see some of the goings on down here these days.

Men like Norway's Roald Amundsen, whose expedition reached the pole on Dec. 14, 1911; the Englishman, Capt. Robert F. Scott, who was beaten by Amundsen only by a month; and even Adm. Richard E. Byrd, the American who first flew over the pole, might be astounded to find: Movies every other night at the lonely station. Hi-fi music in some of the buildings. An ice cream machine in the mess galley. And huge aircraft dropping supplies by parachute or letting down on an ice cap once settled to growling husky dogs.

TOOK TWO MONTHS
It took Amundsen's party of five explorers just short of two months to make the 850-mile overland journey from the Bay of Whales on the coast of the treacherous Ross Sea to the pole, even though their tough Eskimo dogs sometimes made as much as 50 miles a day.

Today, huge Navy Hercules jets of their early followers faced death and danger on the trail, it's true. In fact, Scott and his four companions all died on the trail on their return trek from the pole.

But at the modern pole station men could be killed by accidental explosion of hydrogen gas used to inflate weather balloons.

FLAG OVER CAMP
Mazes of electronic gear—needed in weather, communications, earthquake, glaciology and even space travel research—present a constant fire hazard.

An American flag whips on a 10-foot candy-striped pole which is topped by a silver globe. This flag marks the camp site.

About an eighth of a mile away is a flag pole marking the South Pole itself—and about 20 feet from this is still another flag pole. The latter is used to accommodate foreign visitors who might want to raise the flags of their own countries—and have their pictures taken for the folks back home.

Arrest Man Suspected Of Slaughtering Family Of 5

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Hospital physicians today studied X-rays of a madman who swallowed at least one spoon and maybe more while awaiting transfer to New York, where he is accused of slaughtering his brother-in-law's family.

Dade County jailers said the man, Mate (Mike) Ivanov, 37, had broken the bowl off a spoon and swallowed the 3½-inch handle.

Physicians said X-rays showed at least one spoon in his stomach. They said they would wait a day or so to see if he would pass the spoon normally before deciding on surgery.

WANTED FOR MASSACRE

Ivanov was bound to a stretcher in the psychiatric ward of a hospital. Attendants described him as noncommittal, quiet.

"He hasn't said much since he arrived here," said one attendant. The FBI identified Ivanov as the man wanted in Mineola, N.Y., for the Nov. 23 bayonet massacre of five persons.

The victims were Peter Gregov, 39, his wife, 35, and their three sons, Peter Jr., 17; Ronald, 15, and Michael, 11. Even the family poodle was stabbed to death with 17 wounds. A French bayonet found nearby was described as the murder weapon.

Ivanov was picked up by immigration authorities Dec. 5 on charges of illegal entry into the United States. He was found posing as a Cuban refugee in a row boat near Marathon in the Florida keys.

THOUGHT HARMLESS

A fingerprint check by the FBI disclosed his identity. Records showed that Ivanov and his wife and four children lived with the Gregovs when they arrived in the United States from

Susquehanna Turns Down A Bowl Bid

SELINGROVE, Pa. (AP) — Susquehanna University has turned down an invitation for its football team to play Tampa, Fla., University in a bowl game in conjunction with Tampa's annual Gasparillo Festival.

Head Coach James Garrett, in New York attending a meeting, said he had checked with the National Collegiate Athletic Association Friday and the Tampa game was not on the approved list.

The game is scheduled to be played Jan. 6. Garrett said he checked with Kansas City headquarters of the NCAA and was told that application for approval of such bowl games had to be submitted a year in advance.

Susquehanna won eight, lost none, and tied one game in its regular season this year.

ARREST FIVE NUCLEAR FOES

By RAYMOND E. PALMER
LONDON (AP) — The British mobilized forces today against antinuclear demonstrators threatening to storm U.S. air force bases.

A tight security zone was set up around the bases with posters warning: "Official Secrets Act. Prohibited entry. Penalty of two years imprisonment."

In an attempt to break the back of the march organized by Earl Bertrand Russell's antinuclear Committee of 100, police seized five leading members of the group Friday.

They were charged in court with inciting persons to violate the Official Secrets Act by entering a U.S. air base. The case was continued until Dec. 14. Released on bail of $500 each, all five said they intended to go through with their demonstration at Wethersfield and Brize Norton—in Essex and Oxfordshire.

The intention of the demonstrators at Wethersfield is "to ground all aircraft" by sitting under them and by sitting down in maximum security areas where bombs and fuel are stored.

Demonstrations were also planned in the big cities of Bristol, Cardiff, York and Manchester as well as at U.S.A.F. headquarters at Ruislip in Middlesex.

Warriors Whipped 54-27 By West York In Opener; Play At Suburban Tuesday

A taller and more experienced West York High School basketball team led from start to finish in lacing the Gettysburg Warriors here Friday evening 54-27 before a good-sized crowd.

The Warriors opened their season with the game while West York hiked its current record to 2-1.

Coach George Forney, in the process of rebuilding after being left without a single letter winner from last year's South Penn champs, employed his entire squad and used many combinations in experimenting for future games.

The Warriors were way off target in shooting, bagging but eight goals on 54 tries from the field. At the foul line they netted only 12 of 26. Meanwhile the visiting Bulldogs shot nearly 50 per cent from the field in caging 21 two-pointers.

WY OFF FAST

Goals by Dale Stough, Bronley Walker and John Crisamore got West York off to a 6-0 lead in the first 1:15 minutes and they were never seriously threatened. Dick Crist landed the Warriors' initial goal on a follow-up with 2:52 remaining in the period and took a feed from Tom Duane for another goal before Stough landed a foul as the Bulldogs led 9-4 at the quarter.

Jim McCreaf and Duane hit for goals early in the second period to offset a goal and foul by Phil Zorbaugh. The visitors then rolled up nine straight points before Ron Doaks ended the scoring famine with a pair of fouls in the last 30 seconds of play. At half time West York held a commanding 21-10 lead.

Led by Dick Shenberger, Walker and Crisamore, West York pulled steadily away from the middle of the third period and going into the last period was on top 37-19. Goals by Duane, Charley Sleichter and Gary Nelson, plus two fouls by Sleichter and one by Duane, accounted for the Warriors' points.

The game became a regular rout in the fourth period with West York continuing to dominate the boards and time and again blocking shots by the smaller Warrior lads.

Crist and Sleichter were high men for Gettysburg with seven and six points, respectively. Crisamore topped the Bulldogs with 11. Most of the thrills of the evening were confined to the junior varsity game in which Coach Mearl Eckhart's jayvees bowed 38-31.

RESERVES LOSE

After falling behind 17-7 in the first quarter, the Warriors pulled up to a 22-22 tie with 3:45 left in the third period but then faltered as the Bulldogs held a narrow lead until the finish. Bob Deitz led all scorers with 14 for the losing outfit.

The Warriors meet York Suburban on the Trojans' floor Tuesday evening.

New Oxford High's cagers were unable to overcome a 16-2 deficit in the first period and lost their second game in as many starts at Dover Friday evening 44-32.

A field goal by Gary Smith accounted for New Oxford's points in the first quarter as Louis Yohe led the Eagles with eight tallies and Vernon DeGrange added seven.

At half time Dover was on top 28-11 and going into the final period led 36-18. The Colonials sprinted vainly in the final frame with 14 points.

Yohe topped all scorers with 15 points. The Colonials' scoring was evenly divided with Harold Lilliech, Dick Higinbotham and Craig Dutera each netting six. Dover also took the preliminary 33-28.

M-S-M-PHILLIPS GAME MATCHES TOP QUINTETS

One of the country's best small college teams will try to tumble one of the country's best big quintets when Mt. St. Mary's Mountaineers meet the much-traveled Phillips 66 Oilers in a benefit game at New Oxford Junior-Senior High School next Friday at 8 p.m. The new gym at New Oxford seats 1,600.

The Mountaineers, rated sixth or eighth, depending on whether you use the AP or UPI poll, among the country's small colleges, have the most ambitious schedule in their history as they tackle a giant-killer role against Providence, NYU, St. Joseph's and Phillips. Coach Phelan has good personnel and an exciting team with pretty good bench strength. Sophomore Dick Saylor at 6'9 gives the Mounties height at the pivot spot, and campus touts think that Dick Tally, 6'4; Ed Pfeiffer, 5'9; Dave Maloney, 5'9, and John O'Reilly, 6'4, can shoot with any team in the land.

O'Reilly and Saylor take care of the rebounding chores and speedy Pfeiffer and Maloney handle the fast break. The team has played together as a unit over the past year as Phelan lost no starters to graduation. This year, barring injury, they should be better than ever.

The Warriors meet York Suburban on the Trojans' floor Tuesday evening.

BUCKEYES WIN OVER WICHITA; PLAY DEACONS

By SHELDON SAKOWITZ

Associated Press Sports Writer

The bigger they are, the harder they fall—so something's gotta give tonight when top-ranked Ohio State invades Winston-Salem, N.C., for a college basketball joust with Wake Forest, pegged No. 3 nationally.

The Buckeyes warmed up to the task Friday night with an easy 85-62 victory over Wichita at home. The triumph extended Ohio State's unbeaten streak to three while the Shockers tasted defeat for the first time in five outings.

Two-time All-America Jerry Lucas, a question mark before the game because of his chronic knee trouble, played with a heavily bandaged right knee. The 6-8 Ohio State phenom saw less than 23 minutes of action and still managed to click for 27 points.

WELL RESTED

Lucas' ailing knees acted up against Pittsburgh last Wednesday, and his availability against Wichita was up in the air until game time. Whether he will be up to par tonight remains to be seen.

Wake Forest, which won its first two starts against Davidson and North Carolina State, is well rested and also has the advantage of being at home. The Deacons are powered by 6-8, 240-pound Len Chappell, the Atlantic Coast Conference's leading scorer last season.

Southern California (No. 4) and Duke (No. 7) were the only other members of the top 10 teams in the preseason Associated Press poll to see action Friday night. The USC Trojans turned back Kansas 78-70 for their fourth straight success, and Duke's Blue Devils overpowered Louisville 86-56 to stretch their victory skein to three.

Zettle Urges Poultrymen To Gather Eggs Often In Winter; Warns Of Freezing

By FRANK S. ZETTEL
Adams County Farm Agent

Each season of the year creates a different problem when it comes to egg quality. In the spring it is soiled eggs because of wet weather. In the summer it is heat, and the dry weather in the fall. Then in the winter the cold makes furnace fires necessary and drying out the eggs in house cellars may occur.

In cold FRANK S. ZETTEL weather, poultrymen should plan to gather eggs just as often as during the summer. During the morning when most of the eggs are laid, the animal heat will not have an opportunity to escape from all of the eggs, because some nests will have laying birds in them all forenoon. After the eggs are gathered they should not be allowed to sit in the feed room for any length of time. If the feed room is heated the quality of the eggs may be affected, and if unheated the eggs may freeze. In freezing weather protect the eggs while enroute to market so they will not freeze.

MAY CAUSE MOTTLING

The heat from the furnace will break down the egg white and the dry air will enlarge air cells and cause mottling of the eggshell. Loss of quality usually occurs when there is any serious amount of mottling.

A small room partitioned off in a corner of the house cellar makes it possible to provide satisfactory conditions for holding eggs. It is much easier to maintain proper temperature and humidity conditions in a small room.

Cold, open housing is best, if you're thinking of loose housing your dairy herd. Cows don't mind the cold, provided they're sheltered from prevailing winds and a good bedded pack is maintained.

KEEPS PACK WARM

If the bedded pack is several inches thick and well bedded, a natural fermentation takes place which keeps the pack warm. Thermometers placed in the bed have recorded average temperatures of 80 degrees Fahrenheit. With a good hair coat and warm bed, cows will stand cold winter weather.

Dairymen instinctively want to provide warm shelter for their cows. This practice is fine in a stall barn where manure is removed daily, but it should not be done in loose housing. Each cow will give off 16 to 20 pounds of water daily. To attempt to soak this amount of water in a bedded pack inside a tight building is to invite disaster. Warm air, escaping from the manure pack is 100 per cent relative humidity. As soon as it strikes a cooler surface, this vapor condenses. This wet condition cannot be controlled by electric-fan ventilation. Moisture accumulation will rot the barn timbers, increase the daily needs for bedding and provide ideal conditions for pneumonia and winter dysentery.

PREVENT CRACKED EGGS

A study of farm egg breakage in New Jersey showed that a farm with 2,000 laying birds may lose $20 to $300 a year as a result of broken and cracked eggs.

A large part of the cracked or broken eggs on many farms originates in the nest. Some of this nest breakage is due to a shortage of nesting space. Providing one nest for every four or five layers is helpful, and nests should be well padded with clean nesting material. Here are three practices to help keep breakage to a minimum:

Collect eggs three or four times a day.

Don't fill egg baskets more than two-thirds full.

Keep records to see and know the results of care in handling eggs and its effect on breakage.

Remember, CARE, is the answer to lowering egg breakage on the farm!

Elderly Man Dies In Fire-swept Home

READING, Pa. (AP)—A fire swept a one-room bungalow Thursday night, killing Walter W. Hoffer, 61, of nearby Birdshore R. 1.

Firemen said his sister, Lena Wert, who lived nearby, heard an explosion, ran to her brother's home and tried to save him but was driven back by flames.

Sgt. Michael Wisniewski, state police fire marshal, said a five-gallon can of kerosene apparently exploded. He said the cause of the fire apparently was an overheated wood stove.

CAN'T AGREE ON LEADED FOR ISLAND NATION

By ROBERT BERRELLEZ
SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—Opposition leaders, rejecting on their now-or-never ultimatum, agreed to meet again today with government representatives on a proposed provisional government.

The National Civic Union, the largest of the opposition groups, had said before Friday's 12-hour session that it would withdraw from the talks unless a settlement were reached.

The opposition's willingness to continue negotiations with the government or President Joaquin Balaguer despite the ultimatum was viewed as an indication of some progress.

"FAVORABLE TURN"

Also, the Civic Union's radio chain, Voz del Tropic, announced before the recess that the negotiations appeared to be taking "a favorable turn for the people."

Meanwhile, the United States announced it has withdrawn a fleet of warships from the vicinity of the Dominican Republic. The ships appeared off the coast shortly after two brothers of slain dictator Rafael Trujillo returned to the country apparently to try to restore a rightist dictatorship. The Trujillos, Hector and Jose Arizmendi, were forced out of the country a few days later by an air force coup.

In Washington, U.S. government sources declined to discuss the significance of recalling the ships.

Opposition groups have insisted that Balaguer, a former front man for dictator Trujillo, and all other holdovers from the Trujillo era must get out of the government. A general strike called to back the demands entered its 12th day today.

UNICEF FUNDS ON INCREASE

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. Children's Fund has reported that contributions from its Halloween trick-or-treat drive are coming in at a rate well ahead of last year despite charges that UNICEF funds are being used for the U.N. Congo operation.

So far $1,066,000 has been received from the Halloween collections by youngsters in several thousand American communities for UNICEF's health and welfare programs. UNICEF officials said that no trick-or-treat contributions have been diverted to the Congo.

A spokesman for the U.S. Committee for UNICEF, which runs the trick-or-treat program, said the amount is 12 per cent higher than received at this time last year. He said that if the money continues coming in at this rate trick-or-treat donations for 1961 should approach $2 million, or $250,000 more than last year's total.

UNICEF officials believe the charges on diverting contributions to the Congo operation stem from misunderstandings of a loan made to the U.N. Congo operation from the U.S. Treasury out of governmental donations earmarked for UNICEF. This money has no connection with the private donations through the trick-or-treat program.

Bad Check Passer Is Arrested Friday

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A 25-year-old Venango County man wanted in four Western Pennsylvania counties for passing worthless checks has been taken into custody by Allegheny County detectives.

Thomas M. Barclay, of Oil City, was turned over to detectives Friday. He's charged with passing more than $1,000 in worthless checks and impersonating a police officer.

Detectives said Barclay is wanted also in Indiana, Butler and Westmoreland counties on bad check charges.

According to detectives, Barclay purchased a state trooper's hat and police officer's blouse with a bad check, "armed" himself with a blank-firing pistol and travelled about passing the worthless checks. They said he also had a siren installed on his car—paid for by a bad check.

Barclay was arrested last Monday in nearby North Versailles Twp. after a phony policeman had been reported passing bad checks.

NECKLINE IS GETTING DEEP

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON
AP Fashion Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—How deep can a neckline creep?

Costumes created by couturier Arnold Scaasi have gone about as far as they can go, short of eliminating the bodice altogether.

In what seems to be an unofficial contest among American designers to see whose décolletage designs can outstrip the other's, Scaasi's dresses top them all.

Or, as some of the buyers who saw his spring collection today expressed it, they don't quite top enough.

STARTED RACE EARLIER

Designer Rudi Gernreich probably started the race earlier this year by making much of his caveman type, one-shoulder dresses.

Later Cecil Chapman did him one shoulder strap better—or less—by concentrating on strapless fashion. Then Jacques Tiffreau of Monte Santo-Prusan drew a deep breath and dropped the décolletage some more.

Now Scaasi's strapless dresses are worn by models who seem to have outgrown them. But his publicity director assured an inquirer that they were intended to stop where they did. "Very feminine," she explained, a reply which no one could debate.

Slavonic Ancestry Group Meet Sunday

HARRISBURG (AP)—An effort to unite Pennsylvanians of Slavonic ancestry politically will be made at a Sunday meeting here.

W. Gus Shorts, a Dickinson city attorney and board chairman of the Slavonic League, U.S.A., said Friday the aim of the unification effort is "to advance the cause of Slavonic people in all ways."

"Never in history have we had our quota of opportunities. We feel this will give us the votes to make our position understood."

Shorts said he expected Slavonic leaders from all over the state to attend the afternoon meeting in the offices of Sen. John J. Haluska, D-Cambria.

Shorts said the organization has been active in the Northeastern

Pennsylvania area around Scranton and Wilkes-Barre for three years.

Deer Hunter Shot In Venango County

FRANKLIN, Pa. (AP)—An Ohio hunter walking alone across an open field was shot to death Friday about 14 miles East of this Venango County town.

Pennsylvania game officials said William G. Newell, 56, of Galion, Ohio, was hit in his lower abdomen by a bullet fired by an unknown person. They said he was walking toward Route 322 when hit.

A youth playing near a restaurant heard the shot and saw Newell fall. The boy told some men at the restaurant what he had seen and they called an ambulance.

lance. Newell died at the Oil City Hospital about five hours later.

SANTA and the FLYING SHOE

by Lucrece Beale

SYNOPSIS: Polydora was peaceful when King Ferdinand went to bed. But during the night, mysterious things begin happening in the palace. And then, with a crashing roar, the dreadful Ipswitch returns!

CHAPTER SIX THE PEOPLE PANIC

This time the Ipswitch landed on an acre of Christmas trees which stood in little red and green pots behind the palace. These trees had been gathered from all over the land and were to be given to the poor on Christmas Eve. King Ferdinand had decorated them with tinsel and blue and silver balls and toy horns and candy canes and a golden star on the tip of every one.

Now the field lay in ruins, the trees and the pots and the pretty decorations crushed beneath the enormous left foot of the Ipswitch.

In the palace itself all was confusion. The Ministers, gathered in the King's bed room, were flung, violently about. A rare antique vase fell from a mantle piece and knocked the Minister of Science senseless, the Minister of War was wound into the bed springs and the King himself was tossed into the air and left hanging by his knees from the chandelier.

Gradually they righted themselves and, when dawn came, went out to survey the damage. Again, no one had seen the Ipswitch itself and the only thing that marked its passage was the foot print in the field of Christmas trees.

Now the people were really frightened and, worse still, they had lost faith in King Ferdinand who had told them the Ipswitch had drowned. They began to mutter against the King and say that if he couldn't do something to defend the kingdom he should step down and let someone else rule the land.

But Ferdinand was undismayed. He set up a watch around the town and palace.

"If we keep our eyes open we are bound to see the Ipswitch when it comes again and when we do see it we will capture it, dead or alive!" He ordered his men to be alert and to attack at first sight of the enemy.

They saw a great black shoe coming down from above.

For three whole days and nights the guard, with King Ferdinand in command, watched over the palace grounds and the Public Square and for three days and nights nothing happened.

On the fourth day a guard suddenly shouted, "Here it comes—"

The King and all the guards looked up and saw a great black shoe coming down from above. While they waited to attack the foot landed with a crash in an empty playground. The shock of the crash sent the guards sprawling and when they picked themselves up the Ipswitch was gone.

After this the King did not know what to do for how could he fight an enemy he could not see? To make matters worse, ever since the first appearances of the Ipswitch, the palace itself had been haunted.

Not only did doors open and close by themselves and sheets slide from the King's bed but the King often heard whispering sounds and creaking stairs and tapping on the walls when it was late at night and no one around at all.

Meanwhile, the people were sure that the next time the Ipswitch came it would step right on their very own homes. They howled for something to be done and, since they couldn't have the Ipswitch's head, some even began to clamor for the King's head!

Poor Ferdinand! He sat in his room and thought, "Oh, dear, why did all this have to happen so close to Christmas!" He remembered the letter to Santa he had never finished writing. "It's just as well he signed, 'For by Christmas I shall not even be here anymore.' (Tomorrow: The Letter to Santa)

U.S. Communists Plead Innocent

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Communist party of the United States pleaded innocent Friday to a charge of failing to register as an agent of the Soviet Union.

The plea was entered before Chief Judge Matthew F. McGuire in U.S. District Court by Washington attorney Joseph Forer.

The lawyer told the judge the party would waive reading of all of the 12-count indictment handed

A Bit Of History About Early Settlers

By B. F. M. MacPHERSON

THE YOUNG FAMILY
The genealogical data pertaining to the Young family, which was, apparently, the last to bury in the old "Lower" Dutch Reformed Churchyard, is continued at this time.

The will of Robert Young, Senior, who is buried in the old churchyard in a grave that is now unmarked, lists his heirs and family members as follows (continued from last week) —

4. Son — Alexander Young "the sum of one hundred pounds."
5. Son — James Young "the sum of one hundred and twenty pounds."

6. Daughter — Mary Young intermarried with James Wilson.

7. Granddaughter — Elizabeth Wilson "the daughter of my daughter Mary Young, intermarried with James Wilson."
8. Daughter — Agnes Young "the sum of ten pounds."

CARED FOR GRAVES

Forty years ago, according to a most reliable tradition, the graves of the Young family were well cared for and members of the family visited the Dutch Reformed Churchyard and fresh flowers were frequently placed in the plot. Today, if descendants of the family should visit the graves of their ancestors, they would receive a somewhat disagreeable shock for they would find stones both broken and fallen — holes dug by animals or vandals — trash dumped on their own particular plot and trees and briars covering the entire area. Quite a sad sight particularly for anyone who had a personal interest in the place.

In the files of the "Adams Centinel," under the dates given, the following items pertaining to the Young family are to be found —

2. Wednesday, September 18, 1816 —

"Married, Tuesday, September 10, 1816, by the Rev. David McConaughy, to Miss Eliza Young, Mr. John Neely to Miss Eliza Young, both of this County."

JOINED PRESBYTERIANS

Note: — Many members of the Dutch Reformed Church of the Conewago became members of the Presbyterian congregation at Gettysburg and Great Conewago after they were forced, due to lack of numbers, to give up their own particular denomination — the Dutch Reformed. The Rev. David McConaughy served both Great Conewago and Gettysburg. Very likely the Eliza (Young) Neely mentioned above was a member of the Dutch Colony family but, at the present time, no additional data pertaining to her particular family can be found.

3. Wednesday, June 18, 1828 — "Married, Tuesday, June 10, 1828, by the Rev. Mr. Baer, of this county. Mr. Alexander Young to Miss Margaret Hatten, both of this Borough (Gettysburg)."

Note: — Alexander Young was a son of Robert Young, Senior, and is mentioned in his father's will. The father, it will be remembered, is buried in the "Lower" and his grave was, at one time, well marked but now this original gravestone is broken and the pieces scattered over a wide area.

HEADED WEST

4. Wednesday, August 19, 1829 —

"Married, Tuesday, August 4, 1829, at Alexandria, Huntingdon County, Pennsylvania, by the Rev. J. Peebles, Mr. George Young, formerly of Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, to Miss Mary Fisher, of Alexandria, Pennsylvania."

Note: — Nothing is known, at the present time, pertaining to this branch of the Young family but undoubtedly George Young, like so many of the "Low Dutch" started on the westward trek — but paused to marry in Huntingdon County.

5. Tuesday, October 26, 1830 — "Married, Thursday, October 21, 1830, by the Rev. Mr. Charles Weyl, of this place, Mr. Jesse M. Hutton to Miss Margaret Anne C. Young, both of Menallen Township, this County."

Note: — Nothing is known, at present, pertaining to this particular branch of the Young family.

MARRIED IN 1831

6. Tuesday, May 17, 1831 — "Married, Thursday, April 14, 1831, by the Rev. Charles G. McLean, of this County, Mr. William Young to Miss Catharine Cowan, both of Mountjoy Township, this County."

Note: — In the "Lower" Dutch Reformed Churchyard the Young and Cowan family burial plots are located side by side, in the front row facing on the Low Dutch Road. Evidently the families were joined in "more ways than one" several intermarriages making the ties still more permanent. This branch of the family continued to live in Adams County for some years as shown by further data in the old newspaper files.

7. Tuesday, November 27, 1832 —

"Died, November 15, 1832, Robert W. Young, the infant son of Mr. William Young, of Mountjoy Township, this County."

BROKEN STONES

Note: — In the Young family plot in the "Lower" Dutch Reformed graveyard there are the fragments of a broken stone which pieced together (some of the pieces are missing) read "Robert W. — — — 1832." This must, at one time have marked the grave of the little son of William and Catharine (Cowan) Young.

8. Tuesday, January 1, 1833 — "Married, December 20, 1832, by the Rev. Dr. William Paxton, of this County, Mr. John Young, of Cumberland Township, this County, to Miss Jane Gourley, daughter of Mr. Moses Gourley, of Hamilton Township, this

GETS $125,000 CRASH DAMAGE

SCRANTON, Pa. (AP)—A jury has awarded damages of $125,000 in legal action, stemming from an auto crash Aug. 27, 1960, which claimed three lives and seriously injured one.

The settlement Thursday, one of the largest on record in federal court here, was directed against Chemical Tank Lines, Downingtown, Pa. The jury also returned a directed verdict finding Earl Shaffer, 33, Lake Ariel, driver of a truck involved in the crash, guilty of negligence.

Four suits seeking total damages of $325,000 had been filed in the crash which claimed the lives of County. — Robert Young, Senior, mentions a son, John Young, in his will and this is probably the same man if this surprise is correct John Young was a brother of the Robert Young II who is buried in one of the few marked graves in the "Lower" Dutch Reformed Churchyard.

9. Tuesday, January 22, 1833 — "Died, Tuesday, January 15, 1833, Mr. Robert Young, Junior, of Mountjoy Township, this County, in the 18th year of his age."

The notes on the Young family will be continued in this column next week.

100 Years Ago This Week...in THE CIVIL WAR

(Events exactly 100 years ago this week that led to the Civil War—told in the language and style of today.)

Set 1862 War Cost At $500 Million, Plus

We'll Get It, Lincoln Says

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 6—A treasury department spokesman has estimated that the war with the Confederate states will cost the Union at least $500 million within the next year.

The prediction followed reference by President Lincoln in his State of the Union message earlier this week to the financial support by individuals and banks of the federal government's war efforts.

"It is gratifying to know that the expenditures made necessary by the rebellion are not beyond the resources of the loyal people," said the chief executive in his message.

The treasury aide said the cost of the conflict is now about $1.5 million—and mounting fast. To meet this spiraling outlay, loans of at least $250 million will be needed during the upcoming 12 months, he asserted.

REACTION continued to pour in, meanwhile, to the President's austere, yet optimistic, report to Congress and the people.

Surprisingly little of the comment has been adverse so far, although Mr. Lincoln laced his report with remarks on controversial issues ranging from the role of labor in a free society to the confiscation act.

Mr. Lincoln jolted many factions of Congress with the assertion that the Union must extend a diplomatic hand to the recently-organized Negro nations of Liberia and Haiti.

AFTER a detailed denunciation of the African slave trade, the President declared:

"If any good reason exists why we should persevere longer in withholding our recognition of the independence and sovereignty of Haiti and Liberia, I am unable to discern it."

Swinging the theme to the Confiscation Act, under which Negroes owned by disloyal slaveholders were ordered set free, Mr. Lincoln said flatly:

"The legal claims of certain persons to the labor and service of certain other persons have become forfeited."

COMMENTING on "the effort to place capital on an equal footing with, if not above, labor, in the structure of government," the President declared that labor had in recent years assumed the reins of the nation's destiny. Excerpts from his lengthy discourse on this topic:

THE PRESIDENT

"It is assumed that labor is available only in connection with capital; that nobody labors unless somebody else, owning capital, somehow by the use of it induces him to labor . . .

"Now, there is no such relation between capital and labor as assumed, nor is there any such thing as a free man being fixed for life in the condition of a hired laborer . . . Both these assumptions are false, and all inferences from them are groundless . . .

"Labor is prior to, and independent of, capital. Capital is only the fruit of labor, and could never have existed if labor had not first existed. Labor is the superior of capital and deserves much the higher consideration . . .

"No men living are more worthy to be trusted than those who toil up from poverty—none less inclined to take or touch ought which they have not honestly earned. Let them beware of surrendering a political power which they already possess, and which, if surrendered, will surely be used to close the door of advancement against such as they, and to fix new disabilities and burdens upon them, till all of liberty shall be lost."

Demonstrates His Athletic Prowess

NEW YORK (AP)—A group of school athletes visiting Deputy Mayor Paul R. Scriver's City Hall office were doing calisthenics Thursday to dramatize President Kennedy's physical fitness program.

Suddenly, Scriver himself squatted down and did a one-legged deep-knee bend. "Let's see you do this," said the

Let's Look At The Record

"I CRY FOR YOU"

Are O'Konski's Eyes On Senator Toga While Singing Tearful Theme Song?

By JIM DAN HILL, Ph.D., President, Wisconsin State College, Superior

CONGRESSMAN Alvin O'Konski's highly publicized, political crying-towel technique, with Wisconsin's famous 32nd Infantry Division as his personal wailing wall, has backfired.

Among ex-servicemen of all the Armed Forces, there is much disgust, little short of nausea. They know that a fine division, overwhelmingly composed of volunteers with a pride of service, is being politically used.

They also know service men were never better cared for than they are today. Were this not true, this reviewer would protest as loudly as the congressman.

Enroute home from Fort Lewis, Congressman O'Konski (Rep.) paused in Superior. He told this reviewer he was in the State of Washington on other business and had "followed some bad advice," thereby becoming deeply involved before he fully realized it. He expressed regret, said he hoped to hear no more about it.

NEVERTHELESS, in one or more broadcasts since that conversation he is back on the old theme, with the National Guard as his headline lead. He now wants to know why men with jobs and families are on active duty with the National Guard and the Reserves, when there are millions of juvenile delinquents, and others unemployed.

He knows that the Congress of which he has been a member for 20 years put selection for involuntary military service in the hands of local draft boards, not the armed services. Moreover, just how valuable the untrained and the unemployed might be in an early emergency is ignored.

Also ignored is the automatic question as to whether the armed forces are for national security, or do they exist primarily as a gigantic public relief projects? Is it seriously proposed that the safety and defense of this great nation become additional burdens upon the unfortunates, such as the unemployed and the community neglected juveniles?

THROUGHOUT THE STATE there is the repeated query as to Congressman O'Konski's purpose.

In caustic, political-minded Madison, one hears sundry sarcastic cracks. They add up to a continuing O'Konski obsession to enter the U.S. Senate. This is sometimes offered as a supplement to the recurring, though unlikely, rumor that elderly but spry Senator Alexander Wiley could and might unexpectedly decline a re-election campaign next year, for a comfortable and well earned retirement.

Thus the political conjecture! Why else was Alvin away out on the Pacific Coast at his own expense, courting the favor of 10,000 Wisconsin voters and their families, when such a small fraction of them are from his own district?

wiry 47-year-old deputy mayor. The school athletes couldn't.

Isn't this current, grandstand role as the champion, benefactor and Santa Claus to all the militarily saddened hearts throughout Wisconsin no more than an early-bird play for the old senator's toga?

FOR MANY PEOPLE in his 10th, thinly populated, North Wisconsin district, Congressman Alvin O'Konski has done many gracious, personal favors.

Quite naturally, the beneficiaries of these favors are his well wishers and warm supporters, be the "advice" he followed in Tacoma good or bad. But some are sadly apologetic. One sympathetically explained: "Alvin is always running for office. With him it is his full-time job. This is no crime, is it?"

CERTAINLY, it is no crime. It is a practice older than the ballot box. It is sanctioned by law and custom, both in England and America from colonial times. Political science professors recognize it and explain it, with its techniques, in their courses on American and comparative government.

Journalists both in America and England wryly recognize it and comment thereon. "Cuddling and nursing the constituents," it is called in the British Isles and Ireland. But doing it in a way that hangs a cry-baby label on willing volunteers, all the while undermining confidence in America's efforts and suggesting a nonpartisan foreign policy is not in the public interest.

THE REAL ISSUE is not the unpaid barracks at Fort Lewis, Fort Polk or elsewhere. The issue is not the tank on the deadline for want of a $25 part.

The real issue is America's need, or complete absence of need, for military, air and naval strength at this time. To say we do need one or two of them, but not all three is as nonsensical as saying we need one or two legs of the milking stool but not all three.

The outgoing Republican administration was saying more strength was needed. The present Democratic regime is going something about it. The program is in support of a bipartisan foreign policy. Until Mr. O'Konski can offer a cheaper, or better, but at all times an equally safe America, he has no real issue.

He is merely "cuddling and nursing" a U.S. senator's constituency in addition to his own, with an eye on next year's chance at Senator Wiley's toga. Meanwhile, there should be little worry in the Wiley office. Thus far Alvin is not talking like a senator.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government is developing a 12-lesson course to teach Americans how to provide emergency medical care for victims of a nuclear attack. It is expected to start in some areas early next year.

If you are using mince meat to fill apples you are preparing for baking, count on about 3/4 cup mince meat for the core cavities of six large baking apples.

Woodpecker Pecks Hours For Freedom

HEPHIZBAH, Ga. (AP)—A determined woodpecker has pecked his way to freedom, but it took him 36 hours.

The woodpecker fell inside a 30-foot wooden column on the front porch of Randolph Dunbar's home. Some time later the Dunbars heard a big racket going on inside the column.

Finally a small hole appeared, and it gradually grew larger until the bird squeezed through and flew off. He had tunneled through more than two inches of wood.

Add potatoes to a pot roast of beef about 45 minutes before the meat is tender. This timing is for pared medium potatoes.

"Alfred Hitchcock Presents"

Chills And Chuckles—Hitchcock Formula

By CHARLES J. LEAVY

BECAUSE "conventional chills up the spine bore me" Alfred Hitchcock created a new kind of image — an unholy mixture of chills and chuckles. Like many of the greatest creative artists, Hitchcock's approach may very well be far in advance of his contemporary audience. Hitchcock says that the most important task of a director is to keep his world."

Standing between two stalwart athletes with the Olympic Stadium as a background, Hitchcock introduces the commercial, "These flatfooted Olympians will run the mile in one minute flat; let's hope the sponsor can improve that time." And on another occasion, "The title of tonight's show is 'The Greatest Monster of Them All'—a most excellent cue each story stars and features performers who are right for the part. If a star name fits the role then they will be used. If not, then the actor who best suits the role will portray the character. It is not uncommon for a top New York or London actor to be flown to Hollywood to play a role.

Nobody spends his "working day" quite like Alfred Hitchcock—wading through piles of murder stories in search of unique and different methods of doing away with his fellow man.

BIZARRE MURDER

He never tires of the search for the bizarre murder. Maybe that's because he does his own searching ensconced in a big easy chair in audience awake. "You've got to put something in those square frames to keep them looking." Well, the "proof of the pudding" is the fact that "Alfred Hitchcock Presents" is now in its seventh year on television.

Alfred Hitchcock, doing a little cleaning up on the set of "Alfred Hitchcock Presents"

Just count the myriad number of television shows that have come and gone during this time—westerns, adventures, private eyes, situation comedies and many of them with big name stars. Yet, "Alfred Hitchcock Presents" is still going strong. Why? Along with his unusual approach, it's the macabre mixture with the commonplace.

"KIND OF A NUT"

Certainly many viewers who are not familiar with his illustrious background would readily agree that this must be "some kind of a nut" the television industry is trying to foist on the unsuspecting.

Considering his unusual approach "violence in a familiar pleasant setting" and his unbelievable needling of the sponsor, the uninitiated viewer would be right. For if his stories are great shockers, his introductions to the commercials are "out of this for our sponsor."

ALWAYS AN APPEAL

This is the Hitchcock touch. Unusual, unbelievable, out-of-the-ordinary, unconventional but always with an appeal.

What is this appeal? A reporter once asked and "Hitch" replied, "This development of the technique is called 'The McGuffin.'"

"But what is the McGuffin?"

In a serious tone Hitchcock replied, "The McGuffin is an apparatus for hunting lions in the Adirondacks."

"But there are no lions in the Adirondacks," the reporter advised.

"Then there is no McGuffin," Hitchcock replied.

TOUCH OF MASTER

"McGuffin" or not there is a technique. Just as clear and indelible as the artist stroke, each episode of "Alfred Hitchcock Presents" is marked with the Hitchcock technique — the unmistakable touch of the master.

Each story is premised on a "gimmick" or a suspense building device, with the master himself setting the scene. Hitchcock is a firm believer in "the play's the thing," and he makes sure his Beverly Hills home, reading story after story.

The fate of the tale is mirrored in his expressive face. If the story hasn't got it, Hitch's lower lip juts slowly forward until it's a full-fledged pout and he looks like a disappointed little boy. Then he discards the story.

If the story is Hitchcockian — macabre and humorous — Hitch still looks like a little boy, but there's a twinkle in his eyes and the lower lip slackens to a wry, pleased smile.

TV 10 YEARS AGO

Vaughn Monroe had a CBS television series . . . NBC assigned a special correspondent, W. W. Chaplin, to cover General Eisenhower's headquarters . . . The top TV shows were "Texaco Star Theater," "Fireside Theater," "Arthur Godfrey's Talent Scouts," "The Ed Sullivan Show," "Cactus Jim," "Man Against Crime" and "Mama" . . . The New Haven Railroad ran a special "Show Train" to bring Connecticut residents into New York City for "The Big Show" TV program.

Coast-To-Coast On TV

FROM TELEVISION - RADIO

DAILY: The president of the American Federation of Musicians is asking the U. S. Congress to enact legislation to curb the practice of utilizing foreign-made background music on TV. He claims more than half the music heard on dramatic shows here was obtained from abroad at cut rates, causing loss of income to American musicians . . . Danny Thomas and James Garner will be Bob Hope's guests on Dec. 13 . . . Merv Griffin and Jonathan Winters are teamed on a new musical comedy series making the agency rounds . . . Doug McClure's "Checkmate" bosses gave in, after he threatened to quit the program, and are permitting him to appear in a feature film . . . Art Carney, on why he has turned down a TV series of his own: "That's the quickest way to wash yourself out of TV" . . . During his "vacation" from the Jack Paar Show, Hugh Downs worked on film projects for the U.N., wrote a magazine story about skindiving, and taped broadcasts in the Middle East for NBC's "Monitor."

HOLLYWOOD REPORTER:

Durward Kirby has brought suit against the producers of "Bullwinkle," in objection to the use of the name "Kirwood Derby" on the show . . . Robert Goulet's role on Broadway in "Camelot" made it impossible for him to accept the lead role in the TV adaptation of "Notorious" when it was offered to him . . . Andy Williams is currently studying a script sent him by Dick Powell in which Andy would portray a nasty-tempered rock 'n' roll singer . . . Don't believe all those rumors about "Have Gun — Will Travel" becoming an hour-long series next season. Maybe in 1963, but only maybe.

FROM CASHBOX: The top selling stereo albums in the country are, in order, Judy Garland at Carnegie Hall, Enoch Light's "Command Stereo 35," "Camelot" and "Portrait of Johnny" (Mathis). The top records are Jimmy Dean's "Big Bad John," Dion's "Runaround Sue" and the Doves' "Bristol Stump."

Raymond Burr has been awarded the 1961 Mass Communications Award for Public Service by the Outdoor Advertising Association of America. A bronze plaque was presented to him by Ross Barrett, president of the firm of Foster and Kleiser, at a recent meeting of the OAAA. Burr, star of "Perry Mason," was cited for his active interest in traffic safety through television and personal appearances.

Bob Cummings is taking lessons to be a helicopter pilot. Once a week he takes an hour off from filming "The Bob Cummings Show" and heads for Van Nuys (Calif.) Airport. It usually takes about 25 hours of instruction to master a whirlybird. Once he has his license added to his single engine, multi-engine, instrument and commercial flying certificates, Cummings hopes to use a helicopter in the show, where he already flies his own Aerocar and twin-engine plane.

Cheyenne Bodie sets out to buy a Brahman bull as a gift for a seriously ill youngster in "The Brahman Bull" on "The Cheyenne Show" Monday, December 11 (ABC-TV 7:30-8:30 p.m. EST). The Hawker brothers, a trio of fugitive killers from Missouri, waylay Cheyenne with the aim of robbing him, and start a chain of events that turn the mission into a perilous adventure.

Donna Stone convinces husband Alex that Mary should be allowed to go on a weekend skiing date in "Way of A Woman" on the "Donna Reed Show Thursday, December 14 ABC-TV 8-8:30 p.m. EST.

Tom Poston is finally getting his big television break. Poston, panelist on "To Tell the Truth," has been tapped to star in the pilot of a wacky comedy series "Acres and Pains," which will be written by satirist, S. J. Perelman. The new comedy would spotlight Poston as a New York writer living the life of a country squire in Bucks County, Pa.

Playing the role of Poston's wife in the pilot will be Phyllis Avery, who has played wife to others in television. She is the girl who pampered Ray Milland through 80 episodes of "Meet Mr. McNulty." Or you may remember her as George Gobel's TV wife.

Tom Poston of "To Tell the Truth" has a new name for TV westerns: Thud and plunder programs!

Sing Along's Mitch Miller asserts that, when girls talk of bridging the financial gap, it means they plan to take a man over!

Alan Reed, the voice of Fred Flintstone, notes there was a time when there wasn't much to see in a small town but nowadays women dress the same everywhere!

Barry Sullivan of "Tall Man" says the headless horseman was a myth but the headless motorist is a reality!

Lawman's Peggie Castle observes that it used to be destiny that shaped our ends, now it's dieting!

Henry Morgan of "I've Got A Secret" says many people who pass for liberals are just too lazy to kick!

Do you know that the flavor of allspice (whole or ground) is like a blend of cinnamon, nutmeg and clove? Add a whole allspice berry when you are making chicken stock.

Bob Hope Special Wednesday Evening

Bob Hope will launch his 12th consecutive season on the NBC-TV network with Danny Thomas and James Garner as guest stars in a preholiday offering of comedy, music and "surprises" on "The Bob Hope Revlon Show" on Wednesday (9-10 p.m., EST).

Hope's seasonal debut will also highlight the Look Magazine All-America football team, selected by more than 1,000 members of the Football Writers Association of America.

The show's guest roster will include a top Hollywood glamor figure and still another "surprise" to be announced.

Any Questions?

Q. Is Carol Burnett, of the Garry Moore Show, married? — L. H.

A. No, though there have been rumors that she might soon become a bride.

Q. Is it true that the Duke of Windsor will appear in a TV series? — C. J.

A. The Duke's autobiography, "A King's Story," is being prepared for TV, with the Duke himself taking part. The producers are the same group which originated "The Valiant Years."

Q. Why doesn't CBS broadcast color shows? — L. B.

A. The network states it is waiting for wider ownership of TV color sets before it goes in for tint.

Q. Is it true that "Wagon Train" will switch from NBC to ABC next year? If so, what night will it be on? — G. N.

A. The ABC network has bought the series and will feature the series next season at a time to be announced later.

Jurist Calms Down Shouting Attorney

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — An assistant district attorney was shouting at a Criminal Court jury in summing up his case when a juror interrupted.

"Do you have to talk so loud?" he asked.

"I'm sorry," said Robert K. Dwyer, after a startled pause.

Dwyer wound up his argument in another five minutes. He said later he had planned to go on for 45 minutes but the juror "shot me down."

Buys Friends With Cars He Didn't Own

BIRMINGHAM, England (AP) — Albert Spooner told a court Thursday he gave away 37 automobiles he didn't own in 15 months in an attempt to win friends.

He made the down payments out of 23,000 pounds — $64,000 — he embezzled from the electrical firm he worked for.

"Mr. Spooner," said his lawyer, "lived in a sort of fantasy world, building himself up as a person of great importance and wealth."

The errant executive got five years.

TV Briefs

Richard Kiley and Cloris Leachman will star in "The Doctor," to be presented on "Alcoa Premiere" series which is hosted by Fred Astaire.

Paul Peterson, who plays Donna Reed's teen-aged son in "The Donna Reed Show," is a basketball enthusiast. He follows the Los Angeles Lakers and UCLA Bruins with great interest.

Comedian Doodles Weaver will play it "straight" as the new boyfriend of the housekeeper on "The Hathaways" in the upcoming "A Man For Amanda" episode.

Clint Walker, on the realism of Cheyenne Bodie, the character he portrays in "The Cheyenne Show": "He's a nice guy, but it's the other fellows who get the girls."

In Washington, reports David Brinkley of the Huntley-Brinkley Report, a small tale can keep a lot of heads wagging!

A new dramatic series titled "Our Five Daughters" will start on the NBC-TV Network Tuesday, January 2 (3:30-4 p.m., EST). The half-hour daytime drama will tell the story of Jim and Helen Lee and their five daughters.

Pulitzer Prize-winning playwright Arthur Miller's only published novel, "Focus," will be dramatized as a full-hour special on the NBC Television Network early next year.

This is believed to be the first network TV treatment of an Arthur Miller work in this country. It will be taped December 20 in NBC's Brooklyn studios. Playdate will be announced soon.

The singing Kingston Trio has been signed by produced Hy Averback for an acting debut in an episode of "Mrs. G. Goes To College" slated for January broadcast. The trio will sing as well as act in the comedy-drama starring Gertrude Berg and Sir Cedric Hardwicke.

Stella Stevens has been cast as guest star in "The Balloon Girl," for broadcast later this season on "Frontier Circus." She plays

Katy Cogswell, a headstrong girl trying to fly cross-country by balloon — until she's conscripted by the T 'n' T Circus.

When his role in a recent "Gunsmoke" episode called for a song, John Dehner came up with an authentic West Virginia mountain tune taught to him as a small boy by his father, who had learned it from his father. The song's title has been lost over the years.
